Thats awesome. I got another email from another bicycle owner recently that did the same thing. He mounted the boost bottle alittle differently but I belive it was the same set up. If you could give me more information on your engine I could see if I can find a supplier for the intakes. Thanks again for your business. Keith p.s Ive been thinking about setting up a customer page showing what customers have done with our kits to show on or website so if you have more pics send me more.

I just wanted to say THANK YOU for the boost bottle. I put my bottle on my 70cc Chinese engine that's getting pretty popular. I thought maybe you may want to look at this because if you fabricate and sell a fitted intake for these engines you may get a lot more takers.

Anyway,just want to say thanks cause this boost bottle really improved my performance VASTLY. It's pretty amazing.
